The members from southwest Missouri, in caucus at Jafferson City last night, agreed upon a bill to be presented to the Legislature for the sale of what is known as the southwest branch of the Pacific Railroad, recently forfeited by General Fremont and associates for non-compliance of the terms of purchase. The bill provides for the sale of the road for one million dollars, which is to be paid back to the purchasers in installments, as subsidies, as fast as the road extends.

The resolution introduced in the House some days since to memorialize Congress to grant subsidies to the Kanisa Branch of the Union Pacific Railroad, equal to those given to the Omaha Road, meets with strong opposition. The main argument against the proposition is, that such subsidies will enable the Kanisa Pacific Company to extend their road over a considerable portion of the route designed as covered by the Atlantic and Pacific, which would cut the latter company out of direct connection with the Pacific coast and keep a large extent of country in the Indian Territory and New Mexico, which is specially tributary to Missouri and St. Louis, from early development.

The amendment was non-concurred in, and the bill goes back to the Senate.
The House, at half past six o'clock, resumed the consideration of the bill reported from the R-construction Committee, ob which Mr. Boutwell was entitled to the floor. He Mr. Boutwell was entitled to the floor. He yielded twenty minutes to Mr. Garlield, who addressed, the House in advecacy of the bill. He defended the section vesting the General of the Army with the power now exercised by the President, by reference to various acts of Congress, authorizing subordinate officers to perform certain duties. The President of the United States himself was a subordinate of Congress. If Congress could pass a law controlling subordinates, what news doctrine was this that it might not give its orders to the timeral of the Army? The President and his associates were obstructions in the way of the restoration for the Brates recently in rebellion, and Congress, he proposed, should remove that obstructions by transferring the power into the hands of one who had shown toyalty to the Government, and his widingness to obey the laws of the laws.

If the other without using any harsh terms concerning them, he would say that, their, conduct was blessing to every unrepentant, unshanged robel in the South. The whole mass of robel population were in favor of obstructing the population were in favor of obstructing the recenstruction points of Congress; that there was not a man who went into the rebellion, not aguerilla who shot down Union soldiers in a man who went into the rebellion, not aguerilla who shot down Union soldiers in a man who went into the rebellion. The whole mass of the rebellion who was not a man who made raids in Northern States, not a man who made raids in Northern States, not a man who made raids in Northern States, not a man who was attempting to obstruct the reconstruction laws and policy of Congress. Congress. With such a hostile combination did anybody expect that the victorious Republican party would now retire? Did anybody pretend that it should more or less slip backward; much less did anybody expect that Congress would perfor a subordinate to fling back his lectures and fell Congress whet ought to be and what ought not to be.

Air Boutwell addressed the House in support of the bill. When the people complained of Congress they should take notice that for twenty-four months Congress had struggled for the reorganization of the Sunthern States; struggled with a man whose heart and purstruggled with a man whose heart and pur-poses were in the rebellion, and who was he had the expectation that when in November next, in the States lately in rebellion, and which before their would be restored to the Union, blackmen went to the polls where the would be driven from them by white men vay out of these difficulties. The President would the write this law as he had 'the street others. Whether the future were to be for weal or for woe, the duty of Congress was still the same—to maint for the suthering—of the people as represented in Confress, and to enforce by every constitutional power, the rights of the loyal people of the country.

Mr. Brooks, of New York, and Mr. Hubbard, of [Connecticut, opposed the bill. The latter characterized the bill as more than infamous; every State to the Union has a right to representation here. The bill simply contained the principles of the usbellion. Be not care how great a man Grant was, if he, after having fought for the integrity of the Constitution, should now assume to execute this law, he would forfeit all the honors he had thus far nobly carned. The mere authority who proposed to offer this crown to time rail Grant would find that both they and him would meet condembation.

Mr. Peters addressed the House in support of the bill, and sent up and had read by the clerk a letter from a gentleman in Alabama, whose name he did not wish to make public, but who subscribed himself as an officer of the freedmen's bureau and a member of the constitutional convention, picturing the social condition of affairs in Alabama, and, declaring that the disposition of the rebels there was more meligrant and desperate than at any former period.

Mr. Washburne of Hilmols, stated in the same connection, that he had received a letter from one of the most reliable gentlemen in Alabama, hearing out the general statements of the other letter, and meutioning the fact that the rebel General Clinton was stumping the State against reconstruction, and telling the colored men that a vote for reconstruction was a vote for open war between rebels and the colored men.

Bladder Stangusta moravel and Correspondence Chatween General Meade and Governor Jenkins.

Augusta, Friday, Januars 17.

Augusta, Friday, January 17.

The correspondence between General Meade and Governor Jenkins is bublished.

General Meade considers the ordinance passed by the Montgomery convention, to levy and collect a specific tax for defraying its expenses, and requiring the treasurer of Georgia to advance forty, thousand dollars, to be replaced when the specific tax is collected, as an appropriation made by law in the sense used by the constitution of Georgia, which provides that no money shall be drawn from the treasury for the Lepta by appropriations made by law. General Meade, therefore, requests Governor Jenkins to issue a warrant on the treasurer for the amount called for by the convention. He further says that he is clearly of the opinion that the convention is authorof the opinion that the convention is author ized, by the reconstruction beta to exercise auch legislative powers as may be necessary for it to discharge the duties which said ac for it to discharge the duties which said acts imposed.

General Meade sites a precedent for his action in support of the reconstruction convention in the appropriations made by the constitutional convention in 1805, and concludes by asking the cooperation of the executive in the performance of the difficult and embarasing duties dévolving upon him.

Governor Jenkins after meeting the substance of General Meade's communication, says that after careful consideration of the whole subject, and with the clearest conviction of his duty, he declines to comply with General Meade's request, and he thus states his reasons for refusing as some length. First, he considers the question as arising under the constitution of Georgia, some length. First, he considers the question as arising under the constitution of Georgia, adopted in 1865, and under the Constitution of the United States, both of which he has sworn to preserve, protect and defend, no appropriation having been made by the Legislature, and the convention not having been called in accordance with the constitution but by Congress, cannot by its simple act appropriate induced from the Treasury of the State of Georgia, and can not confer on its agents any larger powers than are possessed by itself. He does not consider the ordinance of the Convention as made by law; second, there saddles the Tressury with the cost n there, to provide that the convention shall evy atax for the express purpose of defray-ing the expenses of the convention. Third, spart from the constitutional prineiples involved, the liabilities of the State now pressing upon the treasury would not warrant him in "authorizing the treasurer to advance money to the convention.

General Meade receives the communication of the convention with profound regret; brands his action as an impediment to reconstruction; does not feel called upon to answer distarguments, and removes him from the office of Governor with regret, entertaining for him high personal respect.

Washington, Friday, January, 17.

The Supreme Court was crowded this afternoon with many of the most distinguished members of the bur now in Washington, to hear the argument connected with case No. 380, exparte, William H. McArdle, an appeal from the Circuit Court of the United States, for the Southern District of Mississippi.

It will be recollected that McArdle was arrested and imprisoned by order of General Ocd, and ordered to be tried by a military commission on the charge of hindering reconstruction by certain publications in a paper at Vicksburg, of which he is editor.

The accused was held to but in the sum of $20,000, to await fugther proceedings.

He contended that it was not in any sense a poritical question, nor was it of such a criminal character as required the cent to give it preference. Besides, the accused being now at liberty, though under bail, was suffering no grievous hardship.

Judge Black took issue with Mr. Trumbull, and argued that the interests, not only of McArdle, but of all the citizens of the United States, were involved in the question, and he insisted that the liberty of the citizen was most precious of all blessings. He did not ask the early consideration of the case as a matter of favor, but of justice.

The committee offered a resolution that the extravagant expenses of the convention contribute greatly towards the unpopularity of the tax fixed to meet its necessary expenses, and render its collection more difficult.

rais to nine, and making it the duty of the Secretary of War to cause it be mustered out of service of those grades the officers last commissioned. The object of the bill is to dispense with Major General Hancock and Brigalier General Rousseau. CALIFORNIA.—Since the general election in California two State Senators have died, and special elections have been held to supply those vacancies. The deceased were Republicans, but in each instance Democrats were chosen in their place. This shows that the tide of Democratic revolution is steadily rolling on in the Pacific coast, and that the Democracy are much stronger than when they carried it last year. -It has been discovered that we have the means of fastening a quarrel on the Island of St. Domingo, which will enable us to seize the Bay of Samana, and thus obtain a foothold in the West Indies without the trouble of paying for it. A UGUSTA, January 11.—The committee appointed by General Meade, to examine into the silieged miladministration on the part of the City Council, has adjourned until Tuesday in order to give time for a full investigation.

After the adjournment, a meeting of citizens was held in the council chamber, and committees appointed to obtain evidence sustaining the casages set forth in the petition against the Hayor and Council.

General Orders No. 12, dated Atlanta, January 17, removes John T. Buras, Comptroller of Georgia, for decliming to respect the instructions of, and failing to co-operate with the Major General commanding. was agreed upon at that meeting. The next day, however, Stanton laid before the country the order adopted by the Cabinet, and also a long communication giving nine reasons why Sherman's action was not approved of. These reasons were given in such an authoritative way as to create the impression that they were the reasons of the President and all his Cabinet why Sherman's agreement with Joe statively stated that the first knowledge the President had that he or his Cabinet had been actuated or influenced by any such reasons was conveyed to him by this unauthorized publication of Stanton. No such reasons were ever before the cabinet Councilof Mr. John son. It is said that at the time alluded to Stanton was heard to say that he had "killed another general" by the communication referred to. THE GOVERNMENT AND HOUSEHOLD O THE GRAND RADICAL EMPIRE.—The New York Herald gets off the following. JOHN A. Bixcham.—Mr. John A. Bingham, in his speech in favor of revolutionizing the Supreme Court, used the following language in reply to Mr. Marshall, of Minnesota: "He would tell that gentleman, once for all, that the people spoke for themselves, and by themselves; and that from their judgment there lay no appeal, either to Congressor to the court." Now let us apply this doctrine to John A. Bingham, and see how it affects the little man.

John A. Bingham, and see how it affects the little man.
In 1806 Bingham was elected to Congress by 1.422 mejority; but the outrageous course pursued by him and his associates so disgusted his constituents, that, at the last election his district gave a Demecratic majority of 211. This isone instance in which the people spoke for themselves. And Mr. Bingham had better get all he can, in the shape of stealings, out of his present term, for, as there is no appeal from the decision of the people, he will have to stay at home hereafter.— Cleveland Plain Dealer.

GRANT'S part in the STANTON embroglio WASHINGTON, December 17. GRANT'S TREACHERY ACKNOWLEDGED. There is no doubt Grant deceived the Presi-ent in surrendering the War Office. HIS EXCUSE FOR IT. Mr. Johnson pointedly reminded him in Sherman's presence of his agreement, and Grant did not deny it, and said if he had not allowed Stanton to take possession he would have undertaken to run the War Office else

he would have seen how the ex-Secretar would have fizzled in running his outsid Grant and others are attempting to per-suade Stanton to resign, while the Jacobia

He sent an official communication to the Senate to-day, but with this exception his official duties have been light, and will so con tinue, as the Executive entirely ignores him It is certain that Stanton will not remain It the indignant public sentiment does no force his resignation, the President will remove him, as he said emphatically to-day "Mr. Stanton shall not stay there,"

THE RECONSTRUCTION LAW. It is expected that the reconstruction law will be before the Supreme Court to-morrow in Mr. McCardle's Mississippi case, where Judge Black will make a motion to advance the case. Senstor Trumbull, of Illihofs, will appear in behalf of General Grant and the military authorities, Attorney General Stanberg declining the task. GRANT BOTHERED BY IT.

He is said to be decidedly disgusted with the manner in which his party are thrusting greatness upon him, and so expressed himself to a former member of his staff. HE SAYS HE IS NOT A RADICAL. He is further reported to have declared he was not a radical, and never was one, and that certain men in that party misrepresen and his feelings and position.

WHY HE "SURRENDERED." That as for Stanton be allowed him to take ossession of the War office, having the assur-nce that he would make it the occasion to ender his resignation. HE WILL OBEY HIS SUPERIOR OFFICER.

That while he would not take the responsibility to decide on these questionable laws, he would say that there was a provision in the Constitution making the President his commander-in-chief, and when he issued orders he would obey trem. Such is the substance of the statement, there are reasons to believe, that was sent to the President yesterday. terday. An urgent appeal is made to our citizens for aid to Washington College in Virginia, of which General Lee is president. A very sharp protest is made in certain quarters a gain diding ary institution of learning which has at its head the leading General of the late constitution of the property of the of the proper at its head the leading General of the late confederacy, on the assumption, we presume, that its teachings and influence will be hostile to the United States. We do not believe this assumption is correct. But certainly nothing can be more important to the South and the whole country than the education of the young men of the Southern States, and we are glad to see that liberal donations have been made to this subject by some of our prominent citizens. Mr. Beecher has given $1,000, and has thus indicated his belief that no disloyal or injurious teachings will be inculcated in the college. We don't think that General Lee is likely to teach lessons that will lead to another rebellion; his own experience will be a lion; his own experience will be warning against it. the West Indies without the trouble of paying for it. It seems the Dominicans, five or six years ago, drove off some Americans from an Island near there of which they had taken possession. By seizing what we want now, under pretext of redress for this insult, we can save a great deal of money and settle the question of buying St. Thomas. The plot is not a bad one—as plots go, says the New York Times.

—The New York Tribune, in an article on the presidency, pledges General Grant its support if he be the nominee of that great party which lives and labors to secure equal rights to all men. It adds: "Yet we do not advise not favor the nomination of General Grant we can not win this fight by merely banging away on a drum, and here is just where we apprehend that the managers of the well known words—"While they are the not found that the managers of the well known words—"While the provided had the managers of the committee might consent to apply to his case the well known words—"While the provided where we apprehend that the managers of the committee might consent to apply to his case the well known words—"While the committee might consent to apply to his case the well known words—"While the committee managers of the committee were in session at the National Democratic Committee were in session at the National Democrati Radical Papers on the Political St. uation.

Evidently there are political forces at work which are enlightening and revolutionizing the radical mind. The film of prejudice is eing removed and partisan passions are yielding to the logic of events and a just appreciabrought upon the country. We have before us several papers which, while professing adcutting truths. For instance, the Lafayette Journal, edited by an experienced and trenchant writer, in an article on reconstruction, thus represents thealtuation: thus represents the altuation:

"The political machinery of the country, which also effects the social, it would seem, ought to be more complete and settled by this time, but the truth is, it is more deranged than durlog the war. We have a Fresident who joins clear theories with perverse practices—a Congress which has fooled away much of its time in injudicious and impracticable schemes, and donsequently the greater burden of the war, with its paralyzing effects on business and society, is left on our hands." on business and society, is left on our hands.' It then proceeds to state the necessities o the country and, in so doing, ft sets forth the failures of the Republican party-its incompetency to successfully administrate the Gov-

"We need men who know how to conduct amelioration, of statesmanlike force, of comprehensive intellects superior to partisan resentments, and who understand the fundamental principles of our political system; men who can gather up the shattered fragments and produce complete cohesion. We need such men as Count Carour, one of these great leaders of right, who excisimed in one of the most trying crises of Italy. The heur has now struck for making a bold leap across the grave! Although the sands of her existence had nearly ran out, he proved equal to the emergency. Such a man would raily the people to his support. The misunderstood national debt must be made plain to the mind on an easy working plan. Our revenue laws must be reformed or modified so that all branches of trade shall not stagnate. We must not entertain such magnificent projects for the purchase of terrifory; we, must husband every resource and count every dollar that goes out of the treasury, and remember that it is coined from the labor of a prostrate poople. Our financial method must be refused to a system, and not left to the caprice people. Our financial method must be reduced to a system, and not left to the caprice or discretion of any one man."

This is a rather strong indictment of the Republican party. If the country needs men at its head of "statesmanlike force," of "comprehensive intellects," and "who understand the fundamental principles of our political system." the Journal concedes in the admisn that the Government has not had that class of men at its head under Republican rule. The l'resident has a "clear theories," while there is a lack of "statesmanlike force" in Congress. And Mere is another damaging admission from the same source:

admission from the same source:

"It is not yet too late to retrieve many of our mistakes. If Congress will now dismiss its pride of consistency and look the facts of the case seriously in the face it may yet overcome the effects of its errors and inspire a confidence which will be half the victory at last?" If seven years of trial has failed toelevelone in the Republican party leaders, who understand the fundamental principles of our political system, the prospect looks dismal for relief from that quarter. It is a healthy sign, however, when papers like the Lafayette Journal have the candor and courage to bold ly proclaim the errors, the mistakes and the incapacity of its party.

The New York Evening Post, one of the ablest Republican journals in the country, edited by WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT, is also outspoken upon the follies of its party, In recent issue it thus reviews the new amendposes to set aside the Supreme Court:

* * * * Congress got into a quarrel with the President; it-took counsel of its resentments, not its wisdom; more enerous conditions were imposed; until this legislative folly reulminated in THE MILITARY DESPOT. folly seulminated in THE MILITARY DESPOT-ISM which has produced no solitary good effect, which has widened the chasm between the races at the South, and which has at length run to such an extrawagance that, un-less arrested, it will provoke a general and most disastrous reaction. It is an extremition into which we shall not follow any leaders; but on the other hand, we shall continue to protest against it until the voice of reason shall once more make itself heard among the noisy clamors of Washington.

Partizans of the calibre of Monton and the Indianapolis Journal, who are unable to rise above party resentments, have taken the position that the taxing of Government securities would be tantamount to repudiation The New York Commercial Advertiser, a radical print, edited by one who has had long experience in public affairs, takes issue with a portton of its political friends and insists titis the duty of Congress to adopt a different policy. It says:

"It should, then, with due deliberation, but without necessary delay. TAX GOVERNMENT SECURITIES. The most directly and immediately concerned in this are the holders of these securities. Nor can they afford to sleep on it. Members of Congress are next in line. If they neglect thus to equalize taxation, justly dividing the burden between capital and labor, "the places that know them nearly and labor," the places that know them near the state of and labor, "the places that know them no and labor, "the places that know them now will know them no more forever." And let no man attempt to beguile his constituents with Constituents pabulum about "keeping faith with the public creditor," if he be sensible he will be the first to urge this action. If Congress expects to preserve the faith and credit of the Government, it should equalize and ease the burden of taxation. The rich require protection—should be willing to pay for it: or if unwilling, should be made to do so. At any rate, the M. C. who goes home leaving a recorded vote against Taxing Government Bonds will have leave to stay at eaving a recorded vote against to stay at

The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser, another able and influential representative of the Republican party, condemns in un-equivocal and pointed terms, the proposed monstrous usurpations of the radical congress to accomplish its partizan schemes, which it regards as an evidence of insanity which ludes destruction. It says:

preludes destruction. It says:

"This new device upon the part of Congress seems to us to be so monirous as to throw its previous acts entirely into the shade. We could hardly credit the evidence of our eyes when we read the telegraphic announcement that Congress deliberately proposes to usurp all constitutional power and to muzzle both the President and the Judiciary. It seems that the proposition was too much for even Thad. Stevens, and that he voted against its adoption in committee. It really seems as if all constitutional power and to muzzle both the President and the Judiciary. It seems that the proposition was too much for even the bond of the was defeated.

Senate of the United States he has been the leader of the Democration of the Alleway agaliant soloty. He was a gallant soloty. He was a tion, it would be comparatively harmless and innocent beside the later proposition above alluded to. Neither the President in his exinnocent beside the later proposition solver alluded to. Neither the President in his executive capacty, nor the Supreme Court as the recognized judicial interpreter of the law, are to be permitted to meddle in the least with the work of Congress in regard to liconstruction, under pain of a severe fine and an imprisonment of two years! The amazing assumption which is mosted in the proposition almost takes away the breath in the reading, and staggers our creduitty, "Congress should restrain its aggressive and usurping disposition, and, above all, it should keep its destructive hands off the national Judiciary, for that is a branch of the government so deeply grounded in the estimation of the people that they will regard congressional interference with it as semi-sacrilege and resent it accordingly.

The New York Times, another leading and

The New York Times, another leading and exceedingly able Republican paper, is no less emphatic in its condemnation of the recontruction folly, if not madness, of Congress That paper in reviewing the new reconstruc-tion bill, which the radical leaders in Congress are determined to force upon the country, thus enters its indignant protest against try, thus enters its indignant protest against the great wrong:

"No more significant commentary on the reconstruction legislation—no more startling illustration of the unscrupulousness which actuates the radical leaders—can be conceived, than that which tale affair affords. The cowardice as well as the bravado of guilt is stamped upon its face. It shows an utter absence of continence in the constitutional efficacy of the measures which are applicable to the South, and an utter want of moral courage to uphold the principles that are involved. A consciousness of right usually inspires caimness and strength, and the party which realizes it seldom shrinks from the contingencies incident to political warfare. These extreme radicals, however, seem to shut their eyes when they rush ahead. They are afraid of the ground they tread upon, and of phantoms at every turn. Now it is of the President, anon of the district commanders, and yet again of the Supreme Court. We suspect that they also begin to fear the people in whose name they act, and whose instinctive sense of justice revolts against the abuse of their delegated power. The idea seems to prevait in the Reconstruction and Judiciary Committees that there is no time to lose. The thing called reconstruction must be pushed through, even though it be necessary to muzzle the Supreme Court Judges.

main fact. Congress now proposes to operate by and through a dictarorablp. A soldier is to do the work which the radicals are unable otherwise to do. The sword is to take the place of statesmanship in the business of reconstruction. To this complexion has the jugglery of the reconstruction committee finally come.

* To call all this reconstruction, is a perversion of terms. To imagine that it will promote peace at the South, or in any degree contribute to the restoration of the Union, were transparent foily. If the words the Gazette uses are intended to express its ideas, then we suppose it favors a pure Democratic government, in which the people exercise their political power directly, in mass assembled, and not throug the agency of delegated representatives. That is what it says, whether It means it or not. The New York Tribune makes a fling at a New York journal in stating, sneeringly, that it has holsted "the flag of PENDLETON's and Repudiation." If Mr. PENDLETON's financial views mean repudiation, the Tribune will have to place the Marion county Republicans in that category, with a large portion of its party all through the West.

THE PLATFORM AND TICKET .- The proceedings of the Democratic State Convention, which met at Indianapolis on the eighth instant, will be found in our paper this week. It was the largest, most enthusiastic and harwhich met at Indianapolis on the eighth instant, will be found in our paper this week. It was the largest, most enthusiastic and harmonious convention that ever assembled in this State. It was soomposed of earnest, determined and influential men. Most of the leading men in the State were there. There was no dissoutions, ill feelings or dissatisfactions. All seemed determined upon one thing, and that was success. All personal preferences were abandoned for the success of principle. No one seemed to care very much about who should be nominated—the candidates excepted—but all were anxious as to what the platform should contain. It was generally conceded before the convention met that the Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks would be the nominee for Governor. In fact no one else was spoken of for the position. Consequently Mr. Hendricks was nominated by acciamation amid great enthusiasm. It is scarcely necessary for us to speak of Mr. Hendricks, as he has been so prominently connected with the interests of our State that his usme is a household word, and none know him but to praise him. But we have such a profound reverence for him, that we can not refrain from making a few remarks.

Mr. Hendricks served many years in the lower branch of Congress from the Indianapolis district. He was subsequently appointed Commissioner of the General Land Office, at Washington, and in the winter of 1863, he was elected by the Legislature of this State to the United States Senate, which position he still occupier. In 1860, Mr. Hendricks made the same of the Indianapolis district. He was subsequently appointed Commissioner of the General Land Office, at washington, and in the winter of 1863, he was elected by the Legislature of this State to the United States Senate, which position he still occupier. In 1860, Mr. Hendricks made the canvas for Governor in this State, but owing to the division in the Democratic ranks he was defeated.

THE STATE CONVENTION.—On our first page we give a full abstract of the proceedings of the Democratic State Convention, at Indianapolis, last Wednesday. Every county was fully represented, and great interest was felt in the result, as the Democratic party onters the canvass with full confidence of success. The ticket nominated is unexceptionable. Senator Hendricks is the foremost man in the State, and his name at the head of the ticket will command for it respect and confidence. Should be thoroughly canvass the State, the good effects will be apparent in the Feturns of the October election. We ware defeated in our choice for Lieutenant Governor, but are well satisfied with the result. The other gentlemen on the ticket are aligned men of undoubted qualifications and sterling fidelity to the party.

THE STATE CONVENTION.—It was our good fortune to attend the State Convention, which assembled at Indianapolis, on the Sth instant, and we only regret that space will not allow us to say more concerning it than we can at present. Never in the history of the State was there assembled a convention, at one so large, enthwissite and instances. Never in the history of the State was there assembled a convention, at one so large, enthwissite and instances. But there was such a present. Never in the history of the State was there assembled a convention, and representing the interests of this or that candidate, yet the central idea with all seemed to be to harmonize the different elements, and make the strongest possible ticket, regardless of individual preferences. The best of feeling therefore existed not only between the delegates from the various parts of the State but between the candidates themselves.

Thus passed off the Democratic Convention for the State of Indians, for the campaign of 1888. Everything connected with it, argues our success at the next October elections. And it will come, Republicans believe in the delegates from the various parts of the State of Indians, for the campaign of 1889. Everything connected with it, argues our success at the next October elections. And it will come as sure as harvest come to the sounce of the Union, for the State of Indians, for the campaign of 1889. Everything connected with it, argues our success at the next October elections. And it will come, Republicans believe to the coming harvest. The Convention— The Ticket.—We this week publish a synopsis of the prooceedings of the Sth of January Democratic State Convention, and will hereafter give the able speeches of Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks and Daniel W. Voorhees delivered on the evening of the convention. The platform is broad and comprehensive, and will meet the cordial speproval of every friend of constitutional liberty throughout the land, and if practically carried out, of which there is no doubtif the people but vest the power in the hands of the Democracy, will speedly restore peace, harmony and prosperity of the country.

The personnel of the ticket, so far as we know, is excellent. Its head, Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks, is too well known to the people of Shelby county as a gentleman of the strictest morality and of superior talents and administrative ability to require commendation from us. He ranks as one of the first men, in point of ability and true particular, in the country, and his elevation to the responsible position of Governor would be creditable to the State, and give it character and prestage abroad.

Alfred P. Edgerton, the candidate for Lieutenant Governor, is a former resident of Otho, and represented one of the districts of that state for four years in Congress. He is a gentleman of pleasing address, and eloquent speaker, and will make an able canvass of the State.

The State Convention—On our first page we give a full abstract of the proceed-men of undoubted qualifications and stelling fidelity to the party.

The platform is long, but covers the whole ground, and does not dodge any of the issues. The canvass this year will be made on the questions there presented, and the position of the Democratic party on those issues is plain and unequivocal. We invite the careful perusal of the resolutions by those of our readers who have heretofore voted the Ropublican ticket.

The doctrines of Mr. Pendleton on the financial questions are embodled in the platform, and that gentleman especially indorsed, but the convention did not especially instruct for him, which we think was right.—Sullivan Democrat.

—Another one of those sad accidents, so often the result of the careless handling of fire-arms, occurred in Gibson township, this county, last Monday week, by which a little boy, whose name our informant could not remember, came to an untimely death at the hands of a man named Smith. It seems that the little fellow's curiosity had become excited by seeing Smith handling a seven-shooter, and importuned him to see it, or to have it in his own hands. This the man refused, and started to leave the house. Child-like, the little fellow followed him (Smith) out into the yard, still clamorous for possession of the pistol, when, to frighten him back into the house, Smith turned, and pointing the pistol at the boy, threatened to shoot him. In this position the weapon was discharged, and the boy fell dead, shot through the head.—Salem Times.

HORSES FROM CARRIAGES.

This ingenious and very useful invention, which has been patented in the United States, France and hugland, is now offered by the subscriber to the public, feeling assured they will find it, upon examination, one of the greatest inventions of the age.

Prominent among its advantages are:
First—The facility with which horses may be harnessed to or unharnessed from a carriage Second—In case of a horse falling, he may be loosed from the carriage in one second, without the driver leaving his seat. It is so simple in its operation that a child can work it

Third and Greatest—In case of horses taking fright, becoming unmanageable or running away, the terrible consequences which so for application to carriage, as the horses can be loosed from the tear iage "in a twi kling," and the carriage as quickly and safel stopped.

Mr. C. DUCREAUX gave several pub ic exhibitions. The great is avor and praise manifested by the public on these occasion, is one of the evidences or a popular sapple claim of its meritage. Terms may be known and orders received for applying the patent to carriage, or purchase of these rights, by addressing to.

Dear Sir. Last Christmas, for the first time in my life, I was much all cited by a for - severe Cold, with aimost constant Coupt and some cheek. "Fractice makes perfe I" the prove beay, but the more I cougled the worse told it. By what I then considered an accident but now believe to have been a Provincence I was induced to try Dr. Wright's Tar Syrup, purchase a from you, and was greatly relieved in two d. ys, wh. I y cored in ten. It is not unpleas into the taste, which is a good point. Many years ago, reading my way through an old lib avy, I came across the works of that Bishop Berkeley, who prop eti-aliy and truly declare; or or than a enter, ago, that "West and then earch of Empire takes it way," and among the sewert to treatises in which he strongly advocates the use of Tar, as curative of many dis asses from Later in to the plague. I was then struck with the cogency of the go d Bishop's arguments, and am now sure—from the efficacy of Dr. Wright's preparation of the same renedy—that they were entirely correct. REVENUE ITEMS .- The following items relative to the internal revenue will be of interest to the different classes of business men to which they refer:

which they refer:

The Commissioner of Internal Revente has no authority to result a pensity of failure to stamp an instrument; this power is vested only in the Collector (or in the deputy soting as Collector under sections, 39 or 40). The Collector's authority to make the remission ceases at the expiration of twelve calendar months from the issue of the instrument, and the payment of the pensity then becomes an absolute precedent to the fluxing of the stamp, and is as essential to the validity of the instrument as the stamp itself.

The lister part of section 87 of the reveaue law, so far modifies the former section as to vest in the collector of the districts a discretion to require a tocacconist to give a new bond in an increased amount, and when a new bond is required, the number of machines in use is not conclusive as to the amount for which the new bond is to be given.

"A power of attorner, or proxy, for voting at any election for officers in and incorporated company or society, except religious, charitable, or literary societies, or cemeteries, "is subject to a stamp tax of ten cents. When several stockholders, who are the owners of distinct shires, sign a power of attorney, each authorizing a person to act for him, the instrument is to be regarded as the separate power of each, and should be stamped accordingly.

nower of each, and should be stamped accordingly.

If the power relates to general business and not merely to the election of officers, it should be stamped at the rate of lifty cents for each signer, whether it is to be used at the election of the societies, etc., above named or not.

HOLLOWAY, some fifteen years ago, witnessing the distress occasioner statement of the first statement of the same seems remained in taking the name seems remained to the same seems remained them the most effective of these remedies succeeded in separating their active medical properties, pure, tasteless and inodorous. Then, by combining these with sugar, and moulding them into an agreeable confection, formed the present popular and effective Vermifuge known as

Holloway's Vermifuge Confections,

Which have almost entirely superceded the old nauseous Vermitages, to the de-light of the poor little sufferers. It con-tains no Caiomel or other poisonous in-grationite. So highly esteemed is this popular Ver-mifuge, by the profession, that all intelli-gent Physicians who know of them, pre-scribe them in preference to other rem-edite, as not only more pleasant to take, but more effective to cure. Parents and guardians, having the care of chi'dren, should keep them as a family medicine; for they not only eradicine Worms—those pests of childhood—but cor-rect any derangement of the digestive or-gans, so prevalent with children
